STOPS PAIN

Athens, Tenn., Jan. 27, 1901.

Ever since the first appearance of my menses they were very irregular and I suffered with great pain in my hips, back, stomach and legs, with terrible bearing down pains in the abdomen. During the past month I have been taking Wine of Cardui and Thedford's Black-Draught, and I passed the monthly period without pain for the first time in years. NANNIE DAVIS.

What is life worth to a woman suffering like Nannie Davis suffered? Yet there are women in thousands of homes to-day who are bearing those terrible menstrual pains in silence. If you are one of these we want to say that this same will bring you permanent relief. Console yourself with the knowledge that 1,000,000 women have been completely cured by Wine of Cardui. These women suffered from leucorrhoea, irregular menses, headache, backache, and bearing down pains. Wine of Cardui will stop all these aches and pains for you. Purchase a $1.00 bottle of Wine of Cardui to-day and take it in the privacy of your home.

THE COWARD

He was the man who came last to ship as seaman aboard the Warrior as she lay in the harbor. A fine two masted schooner was the vessel, and Captain Scudder was properly proud of her as she lay alongside the wharf receiving cargo and passengers. She was to sail with twenty souls upon her—seventeen men, two women and a lady's maid. At the last moment the captain decided to augment his crew by one man more. Ere he made a move to engage one he heard a man's voice saying:

"Please tell me where the captain is."

He turned and faced the speaker, who was a tall, gaunt fellow of thirty years or thereabout, with such diffidence of manner as required some courage in him to look the captain squarely in the face when the latter gruffly said:

"I'm the captain."

"If you please, may I work my passage out?"

The captain studied the applicant's appearance in detail. A homely fellow he was, with an unhealthy brown hue to his skin, a forehead into which some lines of sorrow had been wrought, roving eyes that met one's glance with a slightly startled look, a haggard face without whiskers, a receding chin, bent shoulders and a graceless way of wearing his faded and frayed attire. Red hands and long wrists protruded from the two short sleeves of his wornout blouse.

"What do you know about sailing?" asked the captain in a tone of ridicule.

"Not much, sir. I've worked with fishermen, and I know a little about handling a smack."

"I reckon we don't need you. Ever been on a schooner before at all?"

"Often as a passenger, sir. I know I'm not a seaman, but I'll do anything. I want to get back to my people."

"You look strong enough. But why do you hang your head like that? One would think you were a coward."

"I am," said the man in a low voice.

"What! And you admit it?"

"Yes. Why not? I've fought hard against it, but I can't help it. I make up my mind to be brave enough, but when the time comes for it I'm afraid."

The captain had never met such a character as this before, and he was interested. A few other loungers on the wharf stopped to overhear the conversation, their attention first being attracted by the great height of the man.

"Afraid of what?" asked the captain.

"I don't know—of death, I suppose. This is how it is: I came from home with a comrade; I go back alone. One day when we were out in a little sloop a storm came up, and in a sudden lurch of the boat my partner was knocked overboard by the boom. In half a minute the boat was several fathoms away from him. He couldn't swim."

"Why didn't you throw him a line?" asked a bystander.

"Because I was afraid for my own coward's life! I didn't dare to let go the tiller for a moment. I stood there stupid with fear, afraid to leave the tiller for an instant, afraid of death. I felt like a man paralyzed. As the boat rose and fell on the waves I watched my friend struggle in the sea. I saw him throw up his arms. I saw his face white with terror. I heard him cry out, 'Save me!' and then he must have read what was in my scared face, for he shouted, 'Coward!' and sent me a look of hate as the waters covered him up. I don't know how I made land, but I got in safe after six hours of tossing, when the gale fell. I'd give my life, if I only could, to know that I wasn't a coward, but when the time comes to show it I haven't the power. You don't know the shame of it, sir, but you would if you could see that look on my comrade's face, and if his last cry rang in your ears day and night. Cowardice is upon me like a curse. It's the blight of my life, sir."

Such evident shame and grief were upon the man's face that all who heard, including the captain, were moved to some pity of his state, and so much curiosity had he excited in the captain's mind that he was employed for the voyage.

When the Warrior hoisted sail an hour later, she had twenty-one souls aboard. The captain classified them thus: Seventeen men, two ladies, a maid and a coward.

The Warrior had good winds at the start of her voyage, but one night a wind rose, and at daylight there was a heavy gale. Whitecaps danced wildly upon the waters of the sound. The perturbation of the sea was becoming frightful. The vessel was driving straight on to a rocky coast. The passengers, pale with dread of the coming catastrophe, lashed themselves to the deck or clung to the rigging. Captain Scudder shouted the warning of the doom of the Warrior above the sound of the sea:

"Nothing under heaven can change her course!"

Yet he and his crew strove nevertheless to the last. Every one on board knew that the vessel was drifting rapidly; that soon she must strike and be dashed to pieces.

The sea swept her deck and broke over her masts. Seven men hung to the rigging for life. They looked ashore. Only 150 yards away stood a group of islanders, as helpless to succor those in peril as the latter were to save themselves.

Now the position of the vessel was this: Where Sandy point drops beneath the sea it does not end, but it is prolonged under the water, making thus a perilous sand bar. Out upon this bar was the Warrior. The island tides from the east and from the west meet here. There is no more terrible place in a gale than that where two seas collide.

The storm grew. Such was the work of wind and sea that times were when the sand bar from the shore to the vessel was swept naked. But its nudity was speedily buried under heavier seas.

Passengers and crew, fatigued with labor and loss of sleep, assailed by a biting wind, at last succumbed to chill and numbness and made no more effort.

Then arose one of their number, a tall, gaunt fellow, whom the captain had called a coward in harbor, and he proceeded to belabor them and to keep them active, that they might not perish from the cold.

"There's hope yet!" he cried. "Keep alive, men!"

And one after another did he awaken by rude shaking and warm by his rough chafings.

Some caught his spirit, and by the labors of their weary muscles they set their frozen blood in quicker motion.

"But what use?" cried one. "The end must come."

"Aye, but there's one chance!" shouted the coward, who now loomed up large and resolute. "Look! The sea has rolled back and left the bar uncovered. A man could run ashore on that, maybe, while the sea held back."

Two men laughed madly.

"Aye, maybe! Look now!" said one, with savage sarcasm.

The coward looked. The sea had swelled up and hidden the bar far beneath its foaming waters.

"Yet one may try!" cried the coward.

"Try you then!" shouted the other.

Now, it is hard to meet death half way. It is against man's nature to walk to destruction. Even though he knows it be coming he has the hope or the cowardice to shrink from it to the last. Therefore no sailor of them would leap into that sea or dare the deed suggested by the coward.

"If I succeed, will you follow at the next fall of the sea?" he asked.

"What one man can do another can," was the reply.

The coward looked ashore. Sullenly the waters rolled apart. The sand bar was naked. The man jumped from the gunwale and ran.

The people on the vessel watched him with waking hope and cessation of breath. The hundreds of islanders on shore stood silent, thrilled, eager. No word was said; only the sea spoke.

The man ran shoreward, with shoulders and head bent forward and eyes set. The sea rose on both sides of him. The huge waves walled his roadway.

The roadway began to narrow. A turbulent high sea moved in pursuit of him. He lengthened and quickened his steps. It was a race between so small a thing as a man and so great a thing as the storm impelled ocean.

The ocean won. With a great roar it came down upon the man. But he would not be taken in flank, with his back to his enemy. He turned and faced the sea. He leaped into it headforemost. Afterward his body was cast upon the beach. The ocean had toyed with it and had then thrown it back to its own kind.

Those on the island saw that when the man turned to meet death a smile was on his face. He had discovered he was not afraid to die.

She Had the Best of It.

The artist of whom the Philadelphia Press tells was of the impressionist school. He had just given the last touches to a purple and blue canvas when his wife came into his studio.

"My dear," said he, "this is the landscape I wanted you to suggest a title for."

"Why not call it 'Home?'" she said after a long look.

"'Home?' Why?"

"Because there's no place like it," she replied meekly, as becomes a wife who is entirely without imagination.

A Lazy King.

George IV. was a mere puppet of a king. His servants came in to open his window curtains at 6 or 7 in the morning. He breakfasted in bed, read the morning newspapers through, transacted what business was brought to him and then took a long doze of three or four hours. At 6 in the afternoon he rose, dressed for dinner and returned to bed again between 10 and 11.

Being unable to sleep much, he found pleasure in ringing for the servants, ringing his bell forty times a night. If he wished to know the hour, instead of looking at his watch he rung for a servant. If he wished a glass of water, instead of reaching his hand for it he rung again for a servant.

A Clever Retort.

An old lady brought up as a witness before a bench of magistrates when asked to take off her bonnet refused to do so, saying, "There's no law compelling a woman to take off her bonnet." "Oh," said one of the magistrates, "you know the law, do you? Perhaps you would like to come up and sit here and teach us?"

"No, I thank you, sir," replied the old lady; "there are old women enough there already."

The Turn of the Sheet.

Two lord chancellors of England made the turning over of a sheet of note paper a device for executing their neatest joke. Lord Chancellor Eldon, having been asked by a clerical friend to give him a certain living, wrote on one side of a sheet of paper:

Dear Fisher—I cannot today give you the preferment for which you ask. I remain your sincere friend, ELDON.

Turn over.

(On the other side): I gave it to you yesterday.

Sir John Sinclair, who had done much for the agriculture of England and Scotland, thought the nation should present him with a testimonial and wrote to Lord Chancellor Erskine, inviting him to subscribe to it. On one side of a sheet of paper Erskine replied:

My Dear Sir John—I am certain there are few in this kingdom who set a higher value on your services than myself, and I have the honor to subscribe—

(On the other side the note concluded): —myself your obedient, faithful servant, ERSKINE.

English From the Dictionary.

A teacher of French now in New York tells a story of the difficulty she experienced in learning English when she first came here and of some of the ludicrous blunders she made, now that she appreciates the full force of certain of the terms and words that made up her earlier vocabulary.

The teacher had grown tired of chops and steaks and one or two more standard articles of food, and she yearned for a meal made up of such things as she had eaten at home, notably calf's brains a la vinaigrette, spinach chopped fine with an egg dressing and one or two other dishes. She made out her bill of fare all right until she came to the brains, and to find an equivalent she had recourse to her dictionary.

This is what she asked for at a butcher's shop, "And, plees, some of—some of ze intelligence of ze calf."

Frequent Throbbing Headache.

There's many a cause for headache. Men are not often troubled by headaches. When they are it is generally due to biliousness or indigestion. But women have headaches which seem peculiar to their sex, frequent nervous throbbing headaches. Does it not seem as if such headaches peculiar to women must be at once related to womanly disease? Women who suffer with diseases peculiar to the sex do not realize the drain of vital strength and nerve force they undergo as a consequence of disease. It is this which causes the familiar headaches of sick women.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription cures such headaches by curing the cause—irregularity, weakening drains, inflammation, ulceration or female weakness. "Favorite Prescription" invigorates and tones up the entire system, encourages the appetite, quiets the nerves and gives refreshing sleep.

"I was troubled with congestion of the uterus and female weakness for five years," writes Mrs. Robt. Kerwin, of Albert, Hastings Co., Ont. "Was so weak and nervous I could hardly do any work. Had severe pain in back, also dizziness and pain in head. My heart would beat so hard and fast at times I would have to sit still till I got all right again. But after taking four bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and one of his 'Golden Medical Discovery' I felt entirely well. I also used one box of 'Lotion Tablets' and one of 'Suppositories' as directed. All the symptoms of my trouble have disappeared and I am completely cured. I thank you for your kind advice and your medicine."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets clear the complexion and sweeten the breath.

There is nothing like Asthmalene. It brings instant relief, even in the worst cases. It cures when all else fails.

The Rev. C. F. WELLS of Villa Ridge, Ill., says: "Your trial bottle of Asthmalene received in good condition. I cannot tell you how thankful I feel for the good derived from it. I was a slave, chained with putrid sore throat and Asthma for ten years. I despaired of ever being cured. I saw your advertisement for the cure of this dreadful and tormenting disease, Asthma, and thought you had overspoken yourselves, but resolved to give it a trial. To my astonishment the trial acted like a charm. Send me a full-size bottle."

Rev. Dr. Morris Wechler,
Rabbi of the Cong. Bnai Israel.
NEW YORK, Jan. 3, 1901.

DRS. TAFT BROS. MEDICINE CO.,
Gentlemen: Your Asthmalene is an excellent remedy for Asthma and Hay Fever, and its composition alleviates all troubles which combine with Asthma. Its success is wonderful and astonishing.

After having it carefully analyzed, we can state that Asthmalene contains no opium, morphine, chloroform or ether. Very truly yours,
REV. DR. MORRIS WECHSLER.

AVON SPRINGS, N. Y., Feb. 1, 1901.

DR. TAFT BROS. MEDICINE CO.
Gentlemen: I write this testimonial from a sense of duty, having tested the wonderful effect of your Asthmalene, for the cure of Asthma. My wife has been afflicted with spasmodic Asthma for the past 12 years. Having exhausted my own skill as well as many others, I chanced to see your sign upon your windows on 130th street, New York, I at once obtained a bottle of Asthmalene. My wife commenced taking it about the first of November. I very soon noticed a radical improvement. After taking one bottle her Asthma has disappeared and she is entirely free from all symptoms. I feel that I can consistently recommend the medicine to all who are afflicted with this distressing disease.
Yours respectfully, O. D. PHELPS, M. D.

DR. TAFT BROS. MEDICINE CO. February 5, 1901.
Gentlemen: I was troubled with Asthma for 22 years. I have tried numerous remedies, but they have all failed. I ran across your advertisement and started with a trial bottle. I found relief at once. I have since purchased your full-size bottle, and I am ever grateful. I have a family of four children, and for six years was unable to work. I am now in the best of health and am doing business every day. This testimony you can make use of as you see fit.

Index-Tribune.

SONOMA, APRIL 26, 1902.

H. H. GRANICE - - - - - - - - - - - EDITOR

TO ATTRACT SETTLERS.

THE special edition of the INDEX-TRIBUNE is being compiled in order to give people unacquainted with this section an idea of our beautiful Sonoma Valley. We want to make it so attractive that readers will at once become interested—be seized with a desire to come here. In order to do this we must show and describe not only natural scenery and landscapes but we must also show that Sonoma Valley is already settled by a progressive population which has striven to improve and cultivate its holdings. We must show that there are already many pleasant homes, pretty gardens and fine farms in the community. One of the great inducements to residence in any section is the presence of well-kept and pretty homes and congenial and hospitable society. If we can show that Sonoma Valley possesses these advantages, together with fine climate, beautiful scenery and valuable mineral springs we will have no trouble in getting the homeseeker to come here.

Every one does not come to the country to make money, nor do Eastern people often come to California to get rich. They come here in many instances, in search of health and happiness. Southern California is full of such people and Sonoma Valley might be, too, if she had taken one quarter of the pains to make herself known.

Southern California has become famous through persistent advertising.

Every resident of our valley should feel the importance of the effort to bring Sonoma before the public. The Southern Pacific Company has interested itself in our endeavor and in a letter to us Mr. E. O. McCormick, general passenger traffic manager of that company, says:

"We think this is a very wise and effective method of making widely known the advantages and attractions of your section of the country, and believe it cannot fail to be of material advantage, particularly in view of the great interest which is now being evidenced by the people in the East in California, and the large number who are being attracted to the State by the low rates. As you probably know, there will be three more occasions this year when special low rates will be made from the East to California, based on $50.00 for the round trip from Chicago, namely, in May for members of the Womens' Federated Clubs, in June for the Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, and in August for the Knights Templars. All of these conventions will bring thousands of people to the State, and should afford an excellent opportunity to the people of Sonoma Valley to secure a goodly number of the visitors."

Several thousand copies of our special edition will be delivered in the East by the Southern Pacific Company.

THE town where all the people at all times and in all places stand up and say a good word for the place they live in, where they all work together and help each other, there you will find a healthy place to spend your days. There are more towns turned into graveyards by lack of confidence in one another among its residents than from the surroundings. It is the people who make the town, and when you are helping your neighbor to succeed, you are unconsciously helping yourself.—Ex.

BENJ. WEED, "Polly Larkin," Emily S. Loud, Chas. Bundschu and "The Observer" have contributed some excellent articles to our special edition.

THE progressive residents of Sonoma Valley will every one of them be represented in our special edition.

APRIL SHOWERS AND THE FARMING OUTLOOK.

The valley was visited Wednesday and Thursday with the traditional April showers, which are never failing in this favored section of California. The gentle rain was hailed with delight by both farmer and dairyman. So far 1902 has been peculiarly favorable for fruit, grain, vegetables, and the stock and dairying interests. The much dreaded frost has spared the fruit this season without a doubt, and a great deal of thinning out will have to be resorted to. The vineyards, however, are still in danger of a visitation of frost and may yet get a nipping. Should they, too, escape the vagaries of Jack Frost, the grape-grower and winemaker, as well as the horticulturist, small farmer and dairyman have a bright outlook before them. The crops will be all right. The prices are all the Sonoma Valley farmer has now to fear. With anything like fair prices for wine, fruit, hay, grain and dairy produce the season will turn out a most profitable one for the diversified producers of both county and valley.

Rare Humor in Opie Read's New Play.

No known writer but Opie Read, with his talent for observation, his genius for character creation and his rare sense of dramatic contrast could have written the "Starbucks." Good plays are not to be seen every week, and this one has rare popular qualities as well as literary and dramatic ones. Opie Read has long been recognized as one of the wittiest writers of the day, and this new play of his fairly scintillates with sparkling humor that is characteristic of the man. Here are a few samples of Read's humor in "The Starbucks:"

"It's gettin' so a man kant set down and quarrel with his own wife in peace—the country is gettin' too crowded."

"That's like women. They don't care for anything that they can understand."

"There ain't no article much scarcer than truth on grave stone rocks."

"I reckon we've got one of the smartest Postmasters in the whole country. I've seed him open many a man's letter an' read it off just like print."

"The way to find out that a man don't know nothin' is by hearin' him talk. Feller over the mountains had a son that was deaf and dumb fer twenty odd years. Everybody 'lowed that he wus the smartest one in the family until the doctor came along and teached him how to talk, and then they found out he warn't nothin' but a darn fool."

"Did it ever hit your wife that a woman ought to put herself in a condition to be loved? Scoldin' don't fetch out love no mo' than bilin' would fetch out blossoms."

"The Starbucks" will have its first production west of Chicago at the California Theatre, San Francisco, next week, by the celebrated Neill Company. It has just finished a phenomenal run in Chicago, and San Francisco is to be the second city in the country to see the great play. New York and other Eastern cities will not have a chance to see it until next fall. It promises to duplicate the tremendous hit made by "Barbara Frietchie" last season.

Tony Baccalupi of Agua Caliente won the five gallon keg of beer on the April drawing at Beretta's saloon. The winning number was 123.

Count Pulaski's Horsemanship.

In the American army of the Revolution there were few who could equal Count Pulaski either in horsemanship or as a swordsman. His feats were the wonder and envy of his officers, and many were the serious injuries received in trying to imitate him. It is related of him that with his horse at full gallop—and he always rode a magnificent charger—he would discharge his pistol, toss it in the air and catch it by the barrel, then hurl it at some object in advance, and then, without in the least checking the speed of his horse, he would slip one foot from the stirrup and, bending over toward the ground, recover his pistol and wheel into line with as much precision as though he were engaged in ordinary exercise.

Babies Checked at Balls.

The unconcerned manner in which certain nurses in Paris discharge their duties is well known, but it was left to the correspondent of a French medical journal to discover that at several public balls held in Paris on Sunday afternoons it is quite a common practice among nurses intrusted with young children to deposit their charges in the cloakroom while they enjoy a dance with their friends. When a baby is handed over a counter, a numbered ticket is given in exchange, and a ticket with the same number, to prevent mistakes, is pinned to the child's frock. When the ball is over, the nurse claims her baby and takes it home, assuring the confiding parents that she has been for a long walk.

IN DEADLY PERIL.

The Narrow Path of Safety.

The Alpine tourist who finds himself suddenly clinging with feet and fingers to a shelf of slippery rock overhanging a dizzy precipice, understands in a very literal sense the full meaning of the words, "There is but a step between me and death." His peril is so tragic in all its circumstances, so wild in its mountain setting, that the heart almost stands still at the thought of it.

But as a matter of fact every man walks the world with his life in his hands, and the path of safety is narrow for his feet.

An example of the constant peril in which we live is found in the alarming number of deaths from consumption. The country is thoroughly aroused to the need of doing something to stop the ravages of the deadly germ of this disease. Several states have made liberal appropriations for sanitariums in favorable climates. The medical skill of the world is enlisted to fight consumption. Yet in spite of all that is done, the disease seems to gain ground instead of losing it.

THE FORCE OF HABIT

is strong with us. We are so accustomed to the world wide prevalence of consumption that we accept it practically as a necessary evil. If some strange disease were to break out, and destroy human life to the same extent as does consumption, such a disease would be looked upon as an appalling plague. Quarantine would be established against it, and days of fasting and prayer appointed by the churches for the mitigation of the disease. But we accept consumption as inevitable because of its familiarity.

How true this is may be judged from a recent report of Sanitary Officer Gorgas, of Havana, Cuba. It has been cabled to the United States that yellow fever was epidemic in Havana. Dr. Gorgas answered that there is no epidemic. He says: "In the past month there were 72 deaths from consumption and 52 from yellow fever. Yellow fever therefore should not be considered epidemic more than consumption."

What light that throws on our acceptance of consumption! A scare cry is raised that yellow fever is epidemic because of 52 deaths in one month. Not a word was said as to consumption which in the same month claimed 72 victims, or over 35% more than died of yellow fever.

The great question is: Why is consumption so widespread? The answer is found in the general neglect of diseases which if neglected or unskilfully treated find a fatal termination in consumption when the lungs are healthy. In a condition of health these germs are received with impunity. It is only when the lungs are "weak" that the germ is dangerous. For this reason the real danger to be guarded against is the incipient weakness of the lungs, the severe cold, the deep cough, and other affections of the organs of respiration. These diseases can be cured perfectly and permanently by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

"I was troubled with a bad cold, which settled on my lungs and left me with a miserable cough," writes Mr. Joseph D. Burns, of 318 Huestis St., Ithaca, N. Y. "I used two bottles of your 'Golden Medical Discovery,' after which my cough disappeared entirely. I cannot recommend your medicine too highly."

But "Golden Medical Discovery" is not a mere cough medicine. The cures of deep-seated coughs, bronchitis, etc., are but slight tests of the merit of this medicine. In many cases where there were hemorrhages, night-sweats, emaciation, and every symptom of disease which usually terminates fatally in consumption, "Golden Medical Discovery" has effected a lasting cure.

"I take great pleasure in sending you this testimonial," writes Mr. Will H. Whitmire, of Arkton, Rockingham Co., Va., "and to tender you my heartfelt thanks for the restoration to health of my son, A. P. Whitmire, through the use of Golden Medical Discovery' and 'Pleasant Pellets.'

"Our son contracted a deep cold, and had a terrible cough. We called a doctor and he pronounced it irritation of the bronchial tubes, with asthmatic trouble, and he informed me that my son was liable to die at any time. He told me that if we could keep the bronchial tubes open, he might cure him; but after treating him several weeks and my son growing worse all the time, I concluded to try Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and 'Pleasant Pellets.' I had seen several miraculous cures brought about by the use of these medicines, and, of course, I had wonderful faith in them. I am so happy to tell you that I have not been disappointed, and that my boy is well. He used three bottles of 'Golden Medical Discovery' at home and one vial of the 'Pellets,' and was then well enough to go to West Virginia, taking a supply with him. I am just in receipt of a letter from him from which I quote: 'I am well and hardy and getting very fleshy.'

"The neighbors all knew the condition of my boy and they all said he had consumption and would not live a month, and the doctor told some persons after I commenced the use of your medicine that my boy had quick consumption and would have to die."

Persons suffering from disease in chronic form are invited to consult Dr. Pierce, by letter, free. All correspondence is held in strict privacy and sacred confidence. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Accept no substitute for the "Discovery." The main motive of substitution is to enable the dealer to make the little more profit paid by the sale of less meritorious medicines.

SENT FREE.

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, containing 1008 pages and over 700 illustrations, is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Send 31 one-cent stamps for the cloth-bound volume, or only 21 stamps for the book in paper covers. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Court Decides Against Mrs. Schell.

An opinion was handed down in the Superior Court Thursday denying the motion of the defendants in the action of the Savings Bank of Santa Rosa against Georgiana L. Schell and others, to vacate and set aside the default heretofore entered. The Court holds that the affidavits and testimony taken in the hearing does not show inadvertence—the ground upon which Mrs. Schell, through her attorneye, based her motion.

TOWN AND VALLEY.

NEW CITY OFFICIALS.

Inducted Into Office Last Monday Night.

The newly-elected City Trustees, George Breitenbach, J. E. Poppe and A. Pinelli, were inducted into office Monday evening, Messrs. Duhring, Bulotti and Harris, members of the old Board, giving way to their successors.

As soon as the new Trustees were sworn in the Board proceeded to elect its President. This honor was conferred upon J. E. Poppe, who will, by virtue of this office, also be the acting Mayor of the town so long as he continues to serve the Trustees as their President.

President Poppe, upon taking the chair, did not outline the policy of the new Board, which will no doubt be made known at its first regular business meeting on the first Wednesday in May, when the appointment of a Health Officer, City Attorney, Board of Health and Sexton for Mountain Cemetery will be in order. The Street, Plaza, Cemetery and other committees will also be named by the President.

The personnel of the new Board is as follows: Messrs. Breitenbach, Poppe, Pinelli, Ciucci and Hotz, the two latter being the hold overs.

City Treasurer Muldry and City Marshal Albertson will file their bonds and be sworn in at the regular May meeting of the Trustees.

A GREAT SUCCESS.

St. Francis' Church Entertainment Well Attended.

A large and appreciative audience assembled at Union Hall last Saturday evening to witness the clever musical comedy the "Cupboard Lovers," and a well chosen program rendered by home talent. "Cupboard Lovers" was written by Mr. J. C. O'Donnell of San Francisco and presented by some very clever amateurs from that city. The comedy is brimfull of amusing situations and comic characters. The music was tuneful and catchy. The rest of the program consisted of a piano solo by Miss Loretta Muldry, a comic reading by Prof. Hocker and a duet, "Estudinata," sung by Mrs. Lulu Emparan and Miss N. Haraszthy.

Under the artistic direction of the Catholic ladies the stage was transformed into a beautiful maze of white flowers and green shrubs. After the program had been carried out dancing was inaugurated and refreshments served. Altogether the affair was a financial as well as a social success.

New Ads this Week.

The new ads in this week's issue are Hale Bros. & Co., The Racket Store, The Misses Brown, milliners; W. F. Farrell, blacksmith and wagonmaker, and the Petaluma Rochdale Store. THE WOMAN'S CLUB.

Entertained at the Home of Mrs. D. Duhring.

The garden party scheduled for last Saturday afternoon at the handsome home of Mrs. Dorothy Duhring took the form of a house party, owing to the inclemency of the weather. The large and artistic parlors filled with the perfume of fragrant roses and lilacs, were crowded with the fair sex, who chatted socially together and remarked on the scarcity of the men folks who were so conspicuous by their absence, for this was exclusively a Woman's Club affair.

Mrs. Duhring, the gracious hostess, was assisted in receiving by a bevy of pretty girls, and after all were assembled a delightful musical program was rendered. Mrs. Blanche Weems sang two numbers, "A Winter Lullaby" and "Violets." Mrs. Duhring played with her usual brilliance and finish. The treat of the afternoon was the 'cello solos by Ernest Clewe. Little Ramona Granice was heard in character song and dance and Miss Riench sang delightfully in German.

Tea was served at four o'clock, and after some impromptu music and discussion the pleasant affair broke up.

This was the first social given to the members of the club, and Mrs. Duhring is to be congratulated on making it such a success.

Personal and Social Items.

T. S. Glaister visited Napa Monday.

Carlos Emparan is clerking in Weems' store.

Mrs. Angeline Smith has returned to the State of Washington after a visit of several weeks with her mother, Grandma Cook of this place.

Miss Nellie Gordenker has returned from San Francisco, where she was successfully treated for blood poisoning, the result of a slight scratch on one of her hands.

A delightful card party was given by Miss Eva Church, on Friday evening of last week, at the home of her sister, Mrs. Fred. Spaulding, San Francisco. The gathering was complimentary to Miss St. Clair of Modesto. About thirty guests were entertained.

Gustav Magusson, Assistant Superintendent of Golden Gate Park, San Francisco, was here Sunday by invitation of the Plaza Committee of the Woman's Club to look over and make some practical suggestions in regard to laying out and improving the Sonoma Plaza. Mr. Magusson offered some valuable suggestions and seemed much interested in the work planned by the ladies.

Clarence Cheney will return to Sonoma to morrow after an absence of thirteen months in Petaluma. Young Mr. Cheney returns here to resume his old position as a clerk in Hotz's dry goods store. As he has taken special lessons in window draping during his absence the windows of the new store which will shortly be occupied by Mr. Hotz will be made very attractive under the deft touch of Mr. Cheney's hands.

SHAKING HANDS IN MEXICO.

A Prominent Feature of the Etiquette of the Country.

Handshaking in Mexico is much more commonly indulged in than in Anglo-Saxon countries. Foreigners resident here for any length of time inevitably fall into the habit unconsciously of shaking hands upon all occasions, and it becomes so natural that upon their return to countries where a more distant formality is observed they are at a loss to know what to do with their hands and must frequently reflect upon their surroundings in order not to feel almost an affront at the nod of a passing friend or the unceremonious entrance and departure of guests.

In Mexico friends would not think of entering or leaving a house without shaking hands not only with the host and hostess, but all other guests who might be present, and the ladies would kiss each other, both coming and going, on both cheeks. They even observe this formality upon the occasion of a chance meeting on the street or in the car. Gentlemen acquaintances passing each other on the street either tip their hats as they would to a lady or at least salute each other with the hand by touching the hat or in more of a military fashion.

Gentlemen who are old friends stop and shake hands and pass the compliments of the day, and if they have not met for some time they will undoubtedly go through what is termed the "bear hug"—put their arms around each other and pat each other on the back, one passing one arm over the shoulder of his friend, the other under his arm, while the second party occupies a reverse position. When this embrace is concluded, they shake hands and tip their hats, at the same time murmuring the conventional words of greeting. Then they are ready to inquire as to the respective health of the members of the two families.

Gentlemen shake hands with many of their friends both upon entering and leaving a street car. The inspector of the tickets on the cars will shake hands with a number of his regular passengers every morning, clerks behind the counters of a dry goods store will shake hands with the customers that they know, and when the employees of a store or mercantile establishment assemble in the morning the formal greeting is never omitted.—Mexican Herald.

Made Things About Even.

General William T. Sherman was fond of relating the following story:

"When I was with the army in Georgia, a slave owner about Christmas time missed a fine fat turkey. He suspected a good looking mulatto and ordered the man brought before him.

"'You have stolen my turkey and eaten it,' said the irate planter.

"'I'ze not gwine to say I didn't when you says I did, massa.'

"'I ought to have you flogged. What have you to say why I should not punish you?'

"'Well, massa, you hain't lost anything particular. You see, you has a little less turkey and good deal more nigger.'

"And the master was compelled to acknowledge the philosophy of the slave and let him go unwhipped."

Rice and Wheat at Weddings.

Throwing rice and wheat at a wedding is a relic of an old Roman custom and has probably been common in England since Roman times. Brand gives several authorities for it. Friend refers to the case of the bride of Henry VII. at Bristol in 1486, when wheat was thrown upon her with the greeting "Welcome and good luck!"

Rice is used similarly at weddings in India, and the substitution of this grain for wheat in our own country of late years may be partly due to that fact. But where wheat cannot readily be come at rice would naturally suggest itself as a substitute.

Treating a Sprain.

To treat a sprain, wring a folded flannel out of boiling water by laying it in a thick towel and twisting the ends in opposite directions, shake it to cool it a little, lay it on the painful part and cover it with a piece of dry flannel. Change these hot flannels until six have been applied, being careful not to have them so hot as to burn the skin. Bandage the part if possible and in six or eight hours repeat the operation. As soon as it can be borne rub well with extract of witch hazel.

Bamboo Poison.

The young shoots of the bamboo are covered with a number of very fine hairs that are seen under the microscope to be hollow and spiked like bayonets. These hairs are commonly called bamboo poison by the white men resident in Java, for the reason that murder is frequently committed through their agency, mixed in food.

A VALUABLE MEDICINE.

For Coughs and Colds in Children.

"I have not the slightest hesitancy in recommending Chamberlain's Cough Remedy to all who are suffering from coughs or colds," says Chas. M. Cramer, Esq., a well-known watchmaker of Columbo, Ceylon. "It has been some two years since the City Dispensary first called my attention to this valuable medicine and I have repeatedly used it and it has always been beneficial. It has cured me quickly of all chest colds. It is especially effective for children and seldom takes more than one bottle to cure them of hoarseness. I have persuaded many to try this valuable medicine, and they are as well pleased as myself over the results." For sale by F. Duhring. *

Good for Rheumatism.

Last fall I was taken with a very severe attack of muscular rheumatism which caused me great pain and annoyance. After trying several prescriptions and rheumatic cures, I decided to use Chamberlain's pain balm, which I had seen advertised in the South Jerseyman. After two applications of this remedy I was much better, and after using one bottle was completely cured.—Sallie Harris, Salem, N. J. For sale by F. Duhring. *

"A neighbor ran in with a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy when my son was suffering with severe cramps and was given up as beyond hope by my regular physician, who stands high in his profession. After administering three doses of it, my son regained consciousness and recovered entirely within twenty-four hours," says Mrs. Mary Haller of Mt. Crawford, Va. This remedy is for sale by F. Duhring *

ARE YOU DEAF?

ANY HEAD NOISES?

ALL CASES OF

DEAFNESS OR HARD HEARING ARE NOW CURABLE

by our new invention. Only those born deaf are incurable.

HEAD NOISES CEASE IMMEDIATELY.

F. A. WERMAN, OF BALTIMORE, SAYS:

BALTIMORE, Md., March 30, 1901.

Gentlemen:—Being entirely cured of deafness, thanks to your treatment, I will now give you a full history of my case, to be used at your discretion.

About five years ago my right ear began to sing, and this kept on getting worse, until I lost my hearing in this ear entirely.

I underwent a treatment for catarrh, for three months, without any success, consulted a number of physicians, among others, the most eminent ear specialist of this city, who told me that only an operation could help me, and even that only temporarily, that the head noises would then cease, but the hearing in the affected ear would be lost forever.

I then saw your advertisement accidentally in a New York paper, and ordered your treatment. After I had used it only a few days according to your directions, the noises ceased, and to-day, after five weeks, my hearing in the diseased ear has been entirely restored. I thank you heartily and beg to remain Very truly yours.
